- 1) “This institution is an equal opportunity provider.” Is the shortened version of the non-discrimination statement and can be used if there isn’t enough space for some things but, full version must be used with any media or public release. Where does the USDA non-discrimination statement need to be included?

- 2) Some people come to the pantry and do not speak English. You cannot understand them and have no idea what language they are speaking. You write a note to give to someone saying that they need to return with an interpreter. Is this proper or should something else be done? Explain your answer.

- 3) A complaint is received from a pantry that someone who came to conduct a review was rude and disrespectful. The complaint states that the reviewer’s tone was demeaning and generally unpleasant. Remember perceived is key.
- a. Are there civil rights issues here and if so, what?
 - b. Does it make a difference if the provider and reviewer are different races, national origins or genders?

- 4) A pantry manager designates Wednesday as “Polish Day” to make sure that there is an interpreter present and to make people feel comfortable. Should the manager get an award for being innovative or be counseled for possible civil rights problems?

- 5) A pantry worker denies USDA foods/commodities to a Hispanic family because she thinks they are Arabic and thinks it is patriotic to exclude those she considers responsible for 9/11. Is this discrimination since they are not Arabic but are Hispanic?

6) When conducting a compliance review, you find that a food pantry that receives Federal financial assistance is not accessible to people with wheel chairs. What are some possible corrective actions?

7) In taking someone's application for CSFP you ask for information on race and ethnicity. The person refuses to provide this information. What should you do?

8) What are some good ways of publicizing the TEFAP and CSFP programs to people who might be eligible and benefit from receiving USDA foods/commodities?

9) An agency or distribution site decides to provide computer based training on civil rights to its volunteers. Is this allowable? What are other alternatives?

10) A CSFP manager is very angry that the person in the previous situation filed a discrimination complaint and took up a lot of her time and made her look bad. She tells her co-workers to watch out for this "troublemaker." The next time the person visits, he encounters "attitude" from employees. What are the civil rights violations described here?

11) A local church approaches you before the holidays and asks for a list of Hispanic people who are receiving your services so that their outreach ministry can contact them. What civil rights issues does this pose and how should this be handled?

12) Another organization wants to enclose religious literature with the food packages. Is this allowable under the new faith based rules that prohibit discrimination against religious institutions?

13) Your meal program begins with a prayer offered by the program director. No one has complained about this, but you wonder: Is it allowable?

14) Program recipient objects to the fact that a cross is displayed where USDA foods/commodities are being distributed and insists that separation of church and state requires that it be covered up. What is your response?

15) Representatives from an ethnic minority group contact you and insist you must provide ethnic food choices or you are discriminating. Is their complaint legitimate and why?

Answers

- 1) Outreach materials, websites, easily viewed places where services are provided.
- 2) The language burden is on the organization providing the services. You need to provide the interpreter.
- 3) Two part answer
 - a. There could be. Remember perceived is key. Does this person treat everyone rudely? If not, there could be civil rights problems. If so, working in the public is probably not the best job for them.
 - b. It does not make a difference if the provider and reviewer are different races, nation origins or genders. Equal treatment for all applicants and beneficiaries is essential.
- 4) Pantry hours should be posted for all who need access and groups cannot be singled out to attend only on specific days. The manager does not get an award
- 5) Yes – this is discrimination because they were perceived to belong to a group. They cannot be refused service because they are Arabic or Hispanic.
- 6) Take the client choice list out to them to complete and then fill the order and take out to the; Use of proxies. Some one can pick up for the person if a properly executed proxy is signed. NOTE: The person picking up for another person must provide a signed proxy each time they pick up for that person; Do not set special hours for people with disabilities because they slow down others. The time may create an additional hardship for the client or food resources may be inaccessible because you ran out when serving earlier clientele.
- 7) If they refuse, advise that you or someone else will code for them based on perception. Apply your best guess. RATIONALE: Discrimination is often based on perception, and others would probably have a similar perception to the person doing the coding.
- 8) Flyers, PSA, new conferences, websites
- 9) Yes – it is allowable; Written material, Power Point presentations. The key is assuring that all volunteers and staff receive proper training.
- 10) Reprisal/Retaliation: Person or associates treated badly or given a hard time because of previous civil rights or EEO activity such as filing a complaint. This can result in a finding even if the original complaint filed by the person is groundless.
- 11) Don't do it. Privacy rights are violated.
- 12) Not allowed. Brochures and other literature may be placed on a table or brochure rack and people can pick it up if they wish, but you cannot force it upon them by placing in the food bags or boxes.
- 13) It is not allowable; it is mandatory or "perceived" as mandatory to obtain services.
- 14) As long as it is part of the structure or art and not placed at the site specifically for the distribution, it is OK.
- 15) No. If you do not have access to ethnic food as part of your services you do not need to provide. This is where client choice is important.
